MIND, MACHINE & MEDIA

the vector line art in the background is animated as if it is alive and moving in rhythmic patterns.

the geometric patterns have their own animation bundles. like for example the dot matrix has a sliding opacity window, the polyhedron shall rotate; the circle points shall traverse straight paths etc

Architecting intelligent systems for

MIND

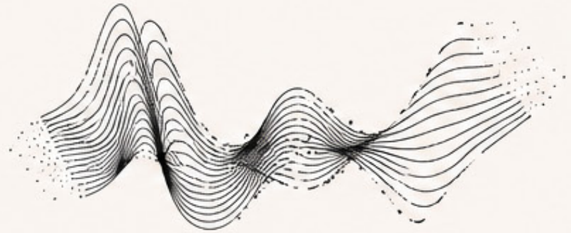

Exploring perception, cognition and the general interface between humans & machines

MACHINE

Turning signals into embodied intelligence to build anything from sensors & robots to intelligence & cognition

& MEDIA

Working across visuals, sound, interaction & storytelling that promotes the culture of artistry..

upon scrolling down, the logo resizes into the top left corner, along with the title text. The text comes into visibility cleanly.

the vector art also scrolls with the page and the bottom part is now visible on the top right corner, still moving in the same pattern.

upon scroll, the mind; matter & media iconography shall also intricately animate together

another version of the vector iconography for the Mind, Machine & Media section in the previous page. I like this one more because it feels more maximalist and interpretive. The media one especially is capturing a very interesting essence of how media functions.

static contact form. no additional animations. the vector art on the top right stays but is less pronounced wrt movement and actuation.

this is the page that precedes the overall footer.
